II. EXPLANATION OF CONTINUING CARE PROVISIONS

A. ENTRANCE FEE

The Entrance Fee provides the Resident the use of a living unit for the remainder of the Resident’s life within the limits of liability established by this agreement. In addition, the Resident is provided priority admission to the skilled nursing health center at a discounted rate.

1. Care Level Definitions

- a. Residential Living - The Resident is capable of self- maintenance with limited assistance from outside help for the performance of daily living activities.
 - b. Residential Assisted Living - The Resident requires a greater level of assistance and supervision in performing activities of daily living, but does not need constant assistance or skilled nursing care.
 - c. Health Center - The Resident requires supervision 24 hours per day in the skilled nursing health center.
2. Transfer Rights and Change of Living Accommodations Between Levels of Care or Communities
- a. Transfer rights under this continuing care agreement allow the Resident to transfer to any level of care offered by the community, or to another community owned by the Corporation, providing the Resident's needs match the services offered. Transfers may be initiated by either the Resident or the Corporation.
 - b. Changes in living accommodation may result from transfer to another level of care or selection of another unit within the same care level. In all situations the Resident pays the monthly service fee associated with the new accommodation and level of care.
 - (1) Downgrade move - A Resident requests transfer to a smaller unit within the same care level or to a less independent level of care. These moves require no additional Entrance Fee payments or moving charges. There will be no refund of the initial Entrance Fee paid.
 - (2) Lateral Move - A Resident requests transfer to a similar unit of similar pricing. These moves require the Resident to pay moving charges and refurbishing fees as determined by the corporation for the vacated unit.
 - (3) Upgrade Move - A Resident requests transfer to a larger accommodation than originally acquired under the residency agreement. These moves require an additional Entrance Fee. The additional fee is the difference between the current published Entrance Fee of the new unit less the Entrance Fee actually paid (exclusive of any unit upgrade charges) for the vacated unit. These moves also require the Resident to pay moving charges costs and refurbishing fees as determined by the corporation for the vacated unit.
 - (4) Reverse Care-Level Move - A Resident transfers to a level of care with fewer services. No charges will be made when the move is to a unit comparable to one previously occupied.

(5) Move at Corporation's Request - The Corporation has the right to require a Resident to move to an alternate accommodation for reasons other than the Resident's health needs. In this event, the Corporation would move the Resident to a similar unit, pay the moving charges to another unit and would also pay the costs to refurbish the vacated unit.

(6) All Moves to Newly Constructed – Including Downgrade, Lateral, Upgrade and Reverse Care-Level Move. These moves require an additional Entrance Fee. The additional fee is the difference between the current published Entrance Fee of the new unit less the Entrance Fee actually paid (exclusive of any unit upgrade charges) for the vacated unit. These moves also require the Resident to pay moving charge costs and refurbishing fees as determined by the corporation for the vacated unit. Newly Constructed can either mean construction of a completely new building or the refurbishing in an existing building.
